This animation, and subsequently every animation in the Goku Versus series, is not monetized. I make no profit from these animations. Any ads you see placed on the videos from the Goku Versus series is not from me. I create these animations out of my love for Dragon Ball as a passion project/hobby and do not intend to infringe on anyone's rights.

The Goku Versus series is considered Doujinshi or a parody, and is only a fan-inspired work based of the popular and long lasting Japanese anime; Dragon Ball. The Goku Versus series is not associated with any official Dragon Ball related content.

Dragon Ball, Dragon Ball Z, Dragon Ball GT and Dragon Ball Super are all owned and operated by Toei Animation, Akira Toriyama, Funimation, and Fuji TV.

Please support the official releases.

I have much respect for Akira Toriyama, the creator of Dragon Ball.

I hope he accepts this animation as a tribute and gift for the inspiration he has given to myself and so many around the world.

ABOUT

The epic conclusion to the Goku Versus series that started in 2009 with Goku vs. Evil Goku, is charged up and ready to fire!

Goku Versus Z brings together countless Gokus from the infinite sea of universes once again to fight for survival.

This animation has been worked on almost daily for the past two and a half years. A high-emphasis has been placed on the story and wrapping up the series with nothing being left on the table. Old and new characters will emerge, alliances will be formed, and never before seen forms will debut as this climactic 15 year-long series comes to a close.

BACKSTORY

In Universe -7 Echo-G has malfunctioned yet again, targeting Goku energy signatures throughout the multiverse and teleporting them to a new Unknown Universe. It would seem the device is once again looking for Evil Goku's energy signature, as it was originally designed to do. Prince Vegeta struggles to stop these malfunctions while worrying of something greater that is at play with the malfunctioning device.

Meanwhile, in the Unknown Universe Gokus start appearing one by one. Some Gokus begin forming alliances and others testing their prowess in battle. As more and more Goku are pulled into this unique world Goku Black, from the animation Evil Goku vs. Goku Black, emerges in the Unknown Universe. Seeking more power and the opportunity defeat every Goku in this insane situation, this evolved Goku Black is a direct threat to every Goku on the battlefield and must be stopped.

Back in Evil Goku's Realm, our anti-hero is struggling with personal issues brought on from spending 100 years with Goku (prime). An old rival returns seeking to speak with Evil Goku and reveal some truths from Evil Goku's past. Simultaneously, this old rival tries to enlist Evil Goku's help to stop the insane situation brewing in the Unknown Universe.

FIND THE HIDDEN MESSAGE

There is a hidden message in the animation that needs to be decoded, can you find it?

FIND THE DRAGON BALLS

Can you find all 7 Orange Dragon Balls hidden in the animation? They play no part in the story, it's only an easter egg. Hint: All the Dragon Balls are shown separately and are scattered throughout the animation. The first obvious Dragon Ball is the Four-Star Ball held by the girl at the beginning. Universe -7 Dragon Balls (purple) do not count.

FIND THE REDHEAD HENRY

Red is in the animation fighting, can you find him?

FIND THE CALLBACKS

Many callbacks to the series are in the animation. This includes items, quotes, music, and more.

DID EVIL GOKU GO SUPER SAIYAN AGAINST RADITZ?

No. He reaches a partial temporary form/state of False Super Saiyan. If you wanted to get into more specifics, his S-Cells were not matured or plentiful yet to handle the transformation of False Super Saiyan or Super Saiyan. He only tapped into this power in that one moment after raging over the death of his wife. Later, as Evil Goku would become stronger raising his battle power, his S-Cells would multiply/mature and he would unlock False Super Saiyan during his travels and then eventually Super Saiyan. This will be explored in my new Evil Goku series coming out.

HOW DID PICCOLO AND VEGETA REGAIN THEIR LIVES?

It isn't explained. However if you played my fan game Evil Goku: Battle for Otherworld, Evil Goku kills Vegeta and Piccolo and you see them dead in Goku vs. Evil Goku 4. Seeing as 100 years have passed from GVEG4 to GVZ at some point they both regained their lives somehow. It isn't really important, however what is important is that for 100 years they have been trying to repair the damage to Universe -7 after Evil Goku killed King Yemma, and Event Madness transpired.

WHAT IS EVENT MADNESS?

Event Madness is a loose term to describe the chaos transpiring in Universe -7. In the game I made called, Evil Goku: Battle for Otherworld, Evil Goku kills King Yemma which starts to cause instabilities in the universe. As time would go on the instabilities would grow, spreading throughout the cosmos of the universe. Violent storms, world phasing, instabilities, cosmic anomalies, dead walking among living and living walking among dead have become rampant for the past 100 years. All of this would transpire on a galactic scale, no world in Universe -7 would be safe from the event.

HOW POWERFUL IS EVIL GOKUMI?

Evil Gokumi is around mid to late Namek saga power. Gokumi, who was from the Saiyan saga, was easily defeated by Evil Gokumi when we are first introduced to her. As GVZ would progress Gokumi would become stronger and by the end of GVZ both Gokumi and Evil Gokumi are roughly about equal in power.

HOW POWERFUL IS EVIL GOKU (SUPER)?

A Dragon Ball Super version of Evil Goku faces off against Goku (Prime) and is easily defeated. We don't have specifics of what time period this Evil Goku is from, however based on the fight, he is roughly around the Goku Black saga in terms of power. However this can't be fully confirmed as it might be possible that this version of Evil Goku could be from a universe where power scaling works differently or events unfolded differently.

WHAT ITEMS DID PICCOLO GIVE EVIL GOKU?

Piccolo's bag consisted of a fresh set of clothing (boots included), a bottle of Malrupt Juice, a small calibrated portal controller allowing Evil Goku to travel to the Unknown Universe, and a note from Chi-Chi.

WHY WERE WE SHOWN EVIL GOKU'S PAST AND HIS FLAWS?

I think it's important to show Evil Gokus vulnerabilities and his flaws. Especially now, as this will be the final time we will see him in my official fan series which stars him as the primary character. Evil Goku needs to be more than just a color copy bad guy. Showing his faults, his limits, how he became the way he is, is what makes him a more believable character- one who can be relatable. This is what makes you the viewer connect with him. When he's conversing with Piccolo and with flashbacks of Goku (Prime) and Chi-Chi we are getting snapshots of who he is. He may still be a badass dude who conquers the universe, but seeing him exposed in this way allows us to understand how he became the way he is. He is guarded, and doesn't flaunt his emotions as casually as Goku does. In effect we as the audience are seeing him exposed as he explores and reflects on his life. How he ultimately must make a change to try alter his life after realizing he's achieved nothing, despite getting everything he wanted.

EVIL GOKU'S CHANGE

Throughout the series Evil Goku is cunning, ruthless, and for lack of a better term "an edgy evil version of Goku." For years he's caused destruction, inflicted pain on others, and more. However, after spending time with Goku for 100 years this slowly begins to change him. Now we see him as this bored, depressed, and apathetic person who wants nothing to do with anything. He's been doing what he has for so long it's all he knows. So now he's alone, reflecting much on his past, his sins, what could he have done differently. As he himself got everything he wanted, but as mentioned earlier achieved nothing of any real value. He conquered his universe, a rematch with Goku, became stronger etc... But after getting everything you want this would spark boredom and cause one to reflect on things. This ultimately gets Evil Goku to let down his guard. As we see in flashbacks and previous animations he's much more demanding, but now he's much more passive. He's still somewhat sarcastic, edgy, and all those other things. But Goku and ultimately time/time alone chipped away at his core exposing a nerve that he must now confront.

WHAT DID THE NOTE FROM CHI-CHI SAY?

The note was an apology from Chi-Chi, but it essentially acts like a personal test for Evil Goku to see if he would go back to a life where he was lied to and manipulated or would move on with his life. The note basically told him that Chi-Chi was sorry for her actions and that she would wait for him in Otherworld. Chi-Chi also begs for Evil Goku to stop Event Madness if he can. Evil Goku, while he may still on some level love Chi-Chi, he knows that going back to her may trap him in the same life he has walked for decades, which ultimately got him nothing. His decision to walk away from her and his realization that Goku has been his friend and tired to help him over the years, is part of what brings his character arc into a full circle. More of this will be mentioned later in this document.

DID YOU ACTUALLY WRITE OUT THE NOTE FROM CHI-CHI?

Yes. But I only showed the last line that was blurred out somewhat in the animation. This was done on purpose so you only get a gist of what is being communicated to Evil Goku from Chi-Chi. Maybe one day I'll post it so you guys can read it.

HOW DID EVIL GOKU GET APPLIANCES, TABLES, AND A BED INTO HIS REALM?

This is kind of a silly question but one I thought I would entertain. In a post-credit scene at the end of Goku vs. Evil Goku 4, we see Evil Goku and Goku (Prime) eating at a large table filled with empty rice bowls. This would imply that since Goku is trapped in Evil Goku's Realm, Evil Goku must have (at some point) traveled back to his universe and gathered supplies for the two of them. In Goku Versus Z, Evil Goku has his own base or accommodation that he perhaps built in the side of a cliff. Inside this small cave you can see a bed, a dirty generator that is connected to a dirty fridge, crates (perhaps filled with items and food), empty beer bottles/cans, and other essentials he may need. Though it is not displayed on screen, in my mind Goku (Prime) had his own home or base elsewhere in the realm. Though both are dead you could argue they don't really need these things. But seeing as Goku still eats when he's dead in Otherworld in the anime it would make sense that some essentials are needed for both characters.

EVIL GOKU'S FLASHBACKS OF CHI-CHI

With flashbacks in reverse chronological order we get glimpses of Evil Goku and his time on Earth in Universe -7. Though these are snippets of his past that tie-in to the overall story, we see that he loved Chi-Chi very much. They conquered the world together and created a “kingdom” proclaiming to be King and Queen over the Earth after wiping out all their enemies. Their Kingdom was nothing more than a destroyed city, with a large building (still standing) acting as their home. The city littered with rubble, fires, and gangs of thugs some loyal to Evil Goku.

We as the audience are watching Evil Goku reflect on his own past, and his interoperation of events. While he loved his wife, he was ultimately blinded by her and her manipulation tactics. As a result we perceive Chi-Chi (through Evil Goku's flashbacks) as being the perfect match for him, when in reality she was using a perfume-like substance to subtly make him do what she wanted by merely making suggestions. And while she may have loved him, she still used him to gain what she wanted. Chi-Chi is very much opposite of Chi-Chi (Prime) from Universe 7. Evil Chi-Chi is very manipulative, calculating, introverted and reserved versus her counterpart who is very outspoken, demanding, and extroverted. This gets into the next point below.

PARALLELS IN THE SERIES

As I always play on parallels between my Goku Versus series and Dragon Ball Z you can find a lot of parallels between Evil Goku and Goku and the way in which their life-events unfold. For instance, Evil Goku proposes to Chi-Chi wanting to marry her versus how in Dragon Ball Chi-Chi wanted to marry Goku. Raditz and Piccolo team up to face Evil Goku, where as in the anime Piccolo and Goku team up to face Raditz. If you look hard enough you can find many intentional parallels (too many to list) that were done not just between Goku Versus and Dragon Ball Z, but also parallels within the series itself. For example, the first time we are introduced to Evil Goku he comes through a portal, in which I used a specific sprite pose, camera angle, and music. In Goku Versus Z (15 years later), Evil Goku goes through a portal and emerges the exact same way he did with the same music (remixed), and sprite pose as he did the first time he appeared in the series. There are dozens of parallels between this last installment and the rest of the series. Another example is that in the original Goku Versus animation, Evil Goku is one of the first Gokus to arrive on the battlefield with Goku (Prime) being asked by Piccolo to come help. Goku (Prime) agrees and arrives later in the animation. In Goku Versus Z this has now flipped, where Goku (Prime) arrives before Evil Goku and Evil Goku comes in much later, also being asked by Piccolo to help. Another example is that this is the first time we see Evil Goku saving Goku, versus in Evil Goku vs. Goku Black, Goku (Prime) saves Evil Goku from being killed by Black's Kamehameha. Many examples of past parallels were done on purpose; if you look hard enough you will find many.

EVIL GOKU'S HOBBY COLLECTING

I've had this incorporated into Evil Goku's character for a long time. Evil Goku very much likes to showcase his triumphs. Goku on the other hand does not. Goku doesn't really boast about villains he's killed or have really any personal belongings that hold any real value besides maybe the Four-star Dragon Ball. Evil Goku on the other hand, seeing as he is opposite Goku, enjoys collecting objects or "trophies" from his battles as a keepsake or to put on display in his room. He does this as a way of displaying his accomplishments, or boast about enemies he's defeated. You can see this at the beginning of Goku Versus Z if you look carefully at his room. It is filled with various items such as skulls, jars filled with dirt from the battles he fought on, guns, ripped clothing, Roshi's Sunglasses, swords, jewels, other objects and cameo items from enemies that he's defeated over the years. As Evil Goku enjoys collecting items from his battles as trophies for himself, we see evidence of this from previous animations I've done that was intentional. Evil Goku collected Majin Buu's torn up cape and used it as a cloak in Evil Goku vs. Majin Buu and Goku vs. Evil Goku 4. In Evil Goku vs. Goku Black, Evil Goku collects Black's time ring however just before he puts on the ring, Black emerges and takes it back from him. In Evil Goku's little home base in his realm we see what appears to be some kind of dead animal skull or creature skull sitting on top of his fridge. Did he simply just slay an animal and eat it, or was it some kind of creature that opposed him and he saved its skull as a trophy?

WHAT IS MALRUPT JUICE?

Malrupt Juice (taken from the words malevolent and corruption) is a drink created and harvested by Demons that live in the Demon Realm. It is a unique and scarce drink, due to its rare ingredients and brewing directions, that permanently raises the power levels of Demons. It is a highly sought after delicacy by different Demon factions and Demon Kings that reside in the Demon Realm. The juice raises the power level of Demons but only if a substantial amount is consumed. A glass or two may only raise a Demons power level by about 2-10%. The amount is based on how pure the juice is and or if it was brewed correctly. However, even obtaining a single 8 ounce glass of Malrupt Juice would be considered no easy feat. It is eluded to that at some point in Evil Goku's past, he had spent a year in the Demon Realm and knew of Malrupt Juice and its unique effect on anyone who drinks it.

WHY DOES MALRUPT JUICE WORK PERMANENTLY ON DEMONS VS. OTHER RACES?

The genetic makeup of a Demon is different than other races. A Demons body can properly, or more adequately, consume the juice as it is from its native world/realm. The way in which a Demon's digestive tract process and digests the juice amplifies its power permanently. Whereas, say for example, a Saiyan can't fully absorb the power from the juice; resulting in only a temporary power increase.

IS EVIL GOKU'S DEMON FORM THE SAME AS EVIL SAIYAN OR DARK ENERGY?

No. Evil Goku's Demon form was always planned to be in this animation from when I originally began work on Goku Versus Z back in 2014. It just so happened that Dragon Ball Super Heroes, this time, beat me to it in terms of the design being red/black and related to evil/demons. While you could argue Heroes isn't canon, I would speculate that the energy emitting from Evil Goku while he is in his Demon Form is almost like an off shoot/separate class of Dark Energy with different properties/effects.

EVIL GOKU'S DEMON FORM (1/2)

When Malrupt Juice is consumed by someone who isn't a Demon, the result is a temporary power boost which can last anywhere from a few hours to a few minutes, again depending on purity. The drawback to this however is that all the negative emotions, thoughts, and feelings residing in the person who consumes the drink are amplified and brought to the surface. Certain demonic traits emerge in the consumer. Changes include the growth of fangs, eye color, a deeper tone in voice, hair stands on end, and a dark energy field/aura. In some cases a change of skin color may also happen, though this is extremely rare. In longer duration periods while the juice is still present in the system of the consumer, other physical changes may happen. This consists of horns, pointed longer ears, demonic tail, or sprouting demonic wings. Though these instances are again rare and only tied to longer durations of more purified juice. It should be worth noting that Demon energy in most cases will change all Ki colors to red and or black, and emits little to no light with unusual dark mystical glows.

As mentioned above, Demon energy changes the color of all Ki within said individual. Evil Goku's aura in base, while in his Demon form, is black with dark red highlights. When he is a Super Saiyan the colors become inverted, consisting of a dark red aura with black highlights. At Super Saiyan 4 violet bolts of electricity surround his aura though they are only present when his aura is manifested, unlike the electrical sparks that are always present at Super Saiyan 2 with or without the aura. Additionally, when firing his Kamehameha the color changes from pink and white to red and black.

EVIL GOKU'S DEMON FORM (2/2)

Seeing as it is an artificial and temporary way to boost power within said consumer, the result of how much of a power increase depends on how much Malrupt Juice is drank in addition to other factors. Evil Goku drinks about 12 ounces of Malrupt Juice which significantly increases his power to being stronger than Goku Black before both fighters turn Super Saiyan 4, in which case Evil Goku and Goku Black are even in power. As Evil Goku transforms, stacking his Super Saiyan transformations on top of his Demon From, the power output burns through the Demon From much more quickly. As a result of this, Evil Goku's Demon Form depletes faster than had he just stayed at his base demon form. Unfortunately, Evil Goku fails to realize this during his fight with Goku Black, and he abruptly loses his Demon form while at Super Saiyan 4. This also hints at the fact that he must have been in the Demon Realm and used Malrupt Juice before learning how to obtain Super Saiyan, or had never stacked Super Saiyan on top of his Demon form. It should be worth noting that the Malrupt Juice Evil Goku consumed, was about as pure as you can make it. This caused a significant temporary boost to his power, and considering he already had a massive zenkai boost from his fight with Goku Black in the previous animation, Evil Goku is much stronger in Goku Versus Z.

If Malrupt Juice is consumed by a race other than a Demon, its temporary power boost effect works differently on different individuals/races. It also only magnifies power levels by certain amounts, based on how strong the consumer happens to be, in a somewhat random but calculated way. Again, as the person is not a Demon the increase is not limited to a 2%-10% increase. This is due to many factors such as the amount of negative or evil traits that reside in said person, current power of said person, how pure is the juice, was it brewed correctly, and how much Malrupt Juice is consumed- even down to the tiniest drop.

EVIL GOKU'S DEMON FORM PERSONALITY

As mentioned earlier Evil Goku goes through some physical changes as well as a temporary personality/mental change while in his Demon form. In a sense we are seeing him restored back to how he was decades ago, more ruthless and cunning. More egoistical then he already is. Showboating to Goku Black as Evil Goku is radiating with command and confidence.

WILL WE SEE MORE OF EVIL GOKU'S DEMON FORM AND MALRUPT JUICE?

Yes. I plan to explore Evil Goku's time in the Demon Realm in his origin story.

HOW POWERFUL IS THAT ENERGY GUN RENEGADE GOKU HAD?

Renegade Goku is very weak. Roughly end of Dragon Ball/early Dragon Ball Z power. However the energy weapon he uses can fire an absurd amount of power, relative to somewhere around that of Buu Saga power. He can only fire two maybe three shots with the weapon until it is depleted and must be recharged. Recharging takes a considerable amount of time.

WHY DON'T YOU EXPLAIN THE ORIGINS OF EVERY GOKU?

That's just not going to happen, for a variety of reasons. Most of the Goku shown are just tertiary characters, who have little to no importance or impact on the story. Only that they may appear to showcase an awesome fight, to get you thinking about possibilities, or to show how badass a certain Goku would be. I take the time to focus on the primary and some of the secondary characters, not the background ones. I think it's better to come up with your own head canon for them anyway. Not every character needs a back-story, and even keeping the mystery around certain characters can be a good thing.

WERE THERE TWO SHADOW GOKU'S?

The first version of Shadow Goku you see who is fighting Mecha Goku, is in fact the Shadow Goku who resides in the Shadow Universe. Evil Goku has his own Shadow Goku technique, however we do not know if Evil Goku is somehow summoning Shadow Goku from the Shadow Universe, or if he is somehow manifesting an alternate version of Shadow Goku. You can learn more about Shadow Goku here and the Shadow Goku technique here.

HOW STRONG IS SHADOW GOKU?

This is a difficult question to answer, but I will do my best. Shadow Goku is somewhat of an enigma in that he is weak when he exists outside of the Shadow Universe. However, if he has been summoned or copied from Evil Goku, he inherits some of Evil Goku's power making him stronger. He was able to hit Goku Black by completely catching Black off guard, though technically his punch shouldn't have been enough to inflict much damage. When Shadow Goku is solid he has no bones to break, so he is able to psychically deal damage without breaking or injuring himself. He can choose to phase himself allowing any physical object to pass through him instantly. It's as if Goku Black was a bullet, flying at Mecha Goku and suddenly hit a brick wall. He was deflected or repelled off of Shadow Goku's punch. It's worth noting that Shadow Goku cannot be detected with the use of a scouter or through sensing a power level. So as you can see, Shadow Goku can be weak in one instance or strong in the next depending on the circumstances. He also does not have a power level in the conventional sense that can be measured accurately. Seeing as he can allow solid objects to pass through his body when he decides, it makes him somewhat difficult to hit physically.

Shadow Goku's only weakness is energy based attacks, of any magnitude. Energy attacks will dissipate him, and he either ceases to exist after dissolving into nothingness or he is somehow sent back to his Shadow Universe. We just don't have enough information to confirm either of those possibilities.

HOW STRONG IS BEAR-KU? HOW DID HE SHATTER THE ENERGY CUBE?

Bear-ku has the strength of the entire multiverse. He is the apex of what it means to be the strongest warrior and most heroic Goku. Long live Bear-ku! ☺

IT'S PRONOUNCED "KAI-OH-KEN!"

Yeah, I know. KAY-OH-KEN was a mistranslation from the early dubs and in some early Dragon Ball Z games. I grew up watching the original Ocean Dub in the late 90's/early 2000's on Kids WB before Funimation took over the English dub and the switch was made to Toonami on CartoonNetwork. It wasn't common knowledge at the time that KAY-OH-KEN was mistranslated. To me, KAY-OH, sounds better even though KAI-OH is the correct pronunciation and reference to King Kai. Whenever I hear KAI-OH-KEN it sounds strange. Technically, both Kay-Oh and Kai-Oh are said in the animation. So those who want accuracy won't be happy, I just come from a different era and it doesn't really bother me what way it's pronounced.

If you're really that upset about it, you're more than welcome to file a complaint here ☺

THE MUSIC IN THIS ANIMATION WAS FIRE

It should be, I selected the music. In addition, I hired some of the best talent that can recreate Dragon Ball music and can remix tracks that I wanted to have done and implemented in the animation. I wanted the music in GVZ to be a combination of multiple Dragon Ball series including Dragon Ball Z, Dragon Ball Super, and Dragon Ball GT. Both American scored music and original Japanese scored music to be used, in combination with other epic scores and remixes from other mediums. It wouldn't be a RedHeadHenry animation without a solid Pokemon remix track ;)

RED, GOKU'S GI OUTFIT DOESN'T HAVE POCKETS. YOU GOT THAT WRONG.

Yup, already knew that. But it needed to be done. It's not even noticeable on the sprites, so why you mad? If this is not to your liking you are more than welcome to file a complaint here ☺

HOW STRONG IS GOKU THE HEDGEHOG?

Goku the Hedgehog is somewhat of a partial joke character. In his base form he's around Goku's power level during the Mid Namek saga. Once he uses a Dragon Emerald and goes Super, his power skyrockets beyond that of a normal Super Saiyan. Additionally, his speed is increased in such a manner where he becomes the "fastest" in the universe. While his Super strength may only rival that of a Super Saiyan around the Namek saga, his speed exceeds all limits known to exist and he becomes the fastest Goku on the battlefield in Goku Versus Z. Goku the Hedgehog becomes so fast he is able to travel undetected by virtually every fighter including Goku Black at Super Saiyan Rose 4. This explains how he was able to grab the bag of Senzu beans with ease. He also uses his speed to move Gokumi and Mecha Goku around the battlefield so that they are able to dodge Goku Black's attacks. One hit from Black would essentially kill them, so the speed to dodge would be essential.

GOKU BLACK COULD BLINK AND KILL MECHA GOKU, GOKUMI, AND GOKU THE HEDGEHOG

Yes. This is true. It's not just a Super Saiyan 4 against three Super Saiyans. It's a Super Saiyan 4 mixed with God Ki that has obtained massive amounts of power that rivals/exceeds MUI. Black should be able to easily defeat the three amigos with no issue. The only thing Goku Black doesn't account for is Goku the Hedgehog's speed. While Black wants to be dealt damage in order to become stronger, toying with his opponents is what he enjoys doing as he hopes that he will be dealt some kind of damage to make himself stronger. That said, he significantly underestimates Goku the Hedgehog's speed, and as a result he can't detect his movements while Goku the Hedgehog is in his Super form. This is also true if Goku the Hedgehog is pushing/moving people out of the way of Black's attacks.

Your Power scaling makes no sense

Technically, it does make sense as I try and have solid consistency. I've always try to stay as true as possible to the anime in terms of what we consider to be the Prime DB universe. One thing that must be understood is that this series that has gone on for 15 years. It began and took place years before Dragon Ball Super released. If you watch the entire Goku Versus series in full from beginning to end, the power scaling does make sense. For example, Goku (Prime) and Evil Goku are 100 years post GT events. Which means when they are in Super Saiyan 4, they are FAR stronger than Blue or Rose just due to the natural course of time and having trained/fought for 100 years. However, that said, every Goku that is shown comes from a universe where potentially the way power scaling works could be entirely different. It could also be that just because you see a Goku at Super Saiyan 3 doesn't mean he is AS strong as a Super Saiyan 3. Meaning maybe the multipliers are different. It also could be that some of these Goku's are from different time periods, have lived entirely differently lives. Some may be naturally stronger or weaker. Something else worth noting... Just because you see a Goku with blue hair for example, doesn't necessarily mean that he is Super Saiyan Blue. It might just be that blue hair IS the color of a normal Super Saiyan in that Goku's universe, similar to how Evil Goku's Super Saiyan hair color is red. This isn't true in all cases but in some. One thing to keep in mind is that all these Goku were never meant to encounter each other. A clash of universes means inconsistency and that certain things won't make sense. But out of the chaos I try to incorporate consistency out of inconsistency.

Explain Ultra Ego Goku (Explain this. Explain it. Explain it now)

This was just a small cameo of a "What if" Goku had obtained Ultra Ego. As I was working on GVZ Ultra Ego came out in the manga, so naturally I had to incorporate it into GVZ. Ultra Ego Goku uses an attack called Hyper Kaio-Ken, which is kind of like Pikkon's Hyper Tornado Attack. The difference here is that, instead of gusts of wind surrounding the enemy it's gusts of multi-colored energy that swirl and strike the opponent. Ultra Ego Goku IS stronger than Goku (Prime) at Super Saiyan 4. He interjects into the fight to try and save/protect Goku (Prime) however Goku Black doesn't like this, and kills him with a punch that strikes though his abdomen. Black does this as a way to show dominance and continue toying with Goku (Prime) uninterrupted.

I THOUGHT ECHO-G (THE PORTAL DEVICE) WAS SHUT DOWN AND DESTROYED

It can get kind of tricky if you don't pay attention in the series, or read some of the descriptions from the episodes. The device in one instance is activated and the next it's destroyed then it's activated again. To summarize this on a high-level here is a bulleted list order of events:

- Echo-G is created by Vegeta's scientists so he can travel back in time and stop Evil Goku from destroying the universe (Pre-Goku Versus Series)
- It malfunctions/was not designed correctly and doesn't warp time, it warps space transporting Evil Goku to Goku (Prime)'s universe (Goku vs. Evil Goku 1, 2, 3)
- Echo-G gets semi-repaired but fails to bring Evil Goku back to Universe -7 (Evil Goku vs. Broly)
- Echo-G malfunctions grow and targets Goku energy signatures across the multiverse as it attempts to lock onto Evil Goku's energy signature across the multiverse (Goku vs. Mecha Goku, Goku Versus)
- Echo-G finally brings back Evil Goku and sends back all other Goku's to their proper universe (Goku Versus)
- Vegeta orders the device to be shutdown and parts of it are destroyed but ripples of portals are scattered like a shockwave throughout the multiverse after it's shutdown. They still target Goku energy signatures (Goku Versus NegaGoku)
- 100 years later Vegeta would order the device to be reactivated with safety protocols to prevent any malfunctions after one of its last energy ripples affects Goku Black's Time Ring (Evil Goku vs. Goku Black) this was done to try and send Black back to his universe
- Though safety protocols were put in place, Echo-G bypassed them and once again began pulling Goku's to a single point in time and space (Goku Versus Z: Origins, Goku Versus Z)

HOW LONG DID THIS ANIMATION TAKE YOU TO MAKE?

2.5 years of almost daily grinding. I did take breaks from time to time but it was almost daily I would be working on some aspect of it. I originally begin production in 2014 but only managed to get about 2-3% complete. I picked back up production on Goku Versus Z on 8/30/2020 and production wrapped on 1/1/2023.

HOW MANY GOKUS ARE IN THIS ANIMATION?

To be realistic, I have no idea. I have so many sprites that I put in the animation I could not tell you. A lot of these sprites were reused several times but just recolored to show that they are all different Gokus from different universes. I obviously wanted to show as many different unique Goku's as I could, so I spent the time when needed to do so. But it would be impossible for me to make every single Goku sprite unique, so most of them are simple recolors. I did have some help creating sprites, but that was more so for specific Gokus I needed done to help me save time. With all this in mind, the area all these Goku are fighting is potentially infinite. With clumps of Goku in some areas and not so many Goku in others, so in some shots you see a lot of Goku's fighting and in others you do not.

Goku Black mentions that he can sense thousands of Gokus. However that's just in a certain range of the area he was in. How far that range is we do not know, as he first says hundreds of Goku, but then changes it to thousands. Perhaps signifying that he miscalculated, or he expanded his range of sensing powers to its maximum radius. It would be impossible for him to sense every single Goku, so when he says the phrase, "I can sense all of them." What he really means is, he can sense all of them within the radius of his ability to detect power signatures.

Now that we've gotten all this out of the way I can tell you the official answer. Millions of portals opened in the Unknown Universe, sending through millions of Goku. However as I stated before, we are only seeing certain areas, as the Unknown Universe is infinite. So by the end of the animation a lot of Goku were killed from the fights they were in. And we are also only seeing all the Goku who were nearby the "main action" of this animation. So it's entirely possible other versions of Goku were not shown who were even more powerful than Goku Black and Savage Goku, they just weren't in the area/shown on screen.

WHO IS KOMAY?

By now it should be obvious, without it even being explained in the animation, that Komay is Evil Goku's daughter. When Chi-Chi had died and went to Otherworld pregnant, she was allowed to keep her body till the baby was born residing in heaven. Both Chi-Chi and Komay are dead. However Komay, having died while being unborn, was allowed to keep her body and grow up in heaven until she reaches adulthood, in which case she will stop growing and remain in her early adulthood years never aging. The way in which time works in heaven is different and considering Event Madness was happening we do not entirely know how it could have affected time or the aging process for Komay. As a result Komay appears to Evil Goku between 4-5 years of age- even though over an estimated 130 years have passed from when she died in the womb with Chi-Chi.

WHEN BLACK PUNCHED EVIL GOKU, DID EVIL GOKU DIE?

Yes and no. It is supposed to be interpreted that Evil Goku is essentially on death's doorstep. That he popped into heaven temporarily. However, he doesn't realize if what he is seeing is all in his head or if it is real, so we do not know which is really true. It could be interpreted as all in his head, as he didn't technically go through the Check-in Station. However that said, Universe -7 is in complete chaos (from Event Madness) as King Yemma is dead. So the way in which life, death, and the universe (as we know it in Dragon Ball) operates, is all messed up. Another factor to consider is what happens to a Goku if he dies in the Unknown Universe? Does his spirit/body just magically get transferred back to his original universe, or does it cease to exist? Technically speaking we as the audience are not supposed to know if Komay actually exists in heaven or not, seeing as Goku states "Is this real or is this all in my head?" Ultimately it's up to the viewer to decide if Evil Goku was dreaming or was actually in Heaven for a brief moment, even if my previous answer about who Komay is, contradicts the explanation in this one. It's ultimately up to you to decide if it was just a dream/vision, or if he was actually in Heaven seeing his daughter.

EVIL GOKU DODGED ALL OF BLACK'S ATTACKS IN BASE! HE MUST HAVE ULTRA INSTINCT.

No. I would never give Evil Goku a form that was introduced to us in Super. Nor should he have one. He doesn't get a new form in this instance. Evil Goku gets reenergized from seeing his daughter for the first time and this sparks some last reserves of power within him. Almost like when Vegeta became so strong that in Super Saiyan 2 he was able to attack Beerus and inflict a little minuscule amount of damage. I would think of it like this: You know how if you pull an all-nighter and the next day after no sleep you get to a point where you're really tired, about to pass out, but something snaps you out of it and focuses you to stay awake? That's kind of like what is happening here. I would also state that Evil Goku is tapping into his Super Saiyan 4 power as well, but he isn't transformed. He's just pushing everything he's got into dodging and concentrating. So he isn't technically stronger than Black in this instance, he's just focusing really hard. I would also state that there are a few instances across the Dragon Ball series as a whole where we see characters do this. We even see Saiyans tapping into their Super Saiyan power, without the need to transform. You can look up, Super Saiyan/partial manifestation. So no, this is not really a transformation. It's more like a power consumption alteration or a power diversion. Though one could still technically argue, Evil Goku still shouldn't be fast enough to dodge Black's attacks. To that I would say, it could be a Zenkai boost, or maybe he still has residual left over from the Malrupt Juice, or maybe his mind concentration just went off the charts. We really don't know. I guess after all my rants about the ass pulls in Super we could just chalk this up as an ass pull if you really wanted to, as Black even states this to be an ass pull. But there is enough to go on from this answer. You'll just have to accept it and move on, or of course you can always file a complaint here ☺

IS THE UNKNOWN UNIVERSE IN GOKU VERSUS THE SAME ONE IN GOKU VERSUS Z?

No. The universe in the animation Goku Versus (2011) transformed all characters into "chibi" sprite versions of whatever universe they came from. This was due to the laws and rules of how that universe operated on a quantum, spiritual, matter, energy, and engineered level. The Unknown Universe in Goku Versus Z, while similar in appearance, has a different set of universal laws applied to it. As a result every Goku that appears retains their original appearance from their original universe. It should also be worth noting that both Unknown Universes are essentially "infinite", or near infinite, pieces of land surrounded by a cosmic anomaly. Meaning, the ground in which these characters stand on is not a planet in the conventional sense. You could classify the Unknown Universe as a possible realm, but again we just don't have enough information to really know for sure.

HOW DID GOKUMI GO FROM SAIYAN SAGA POWER TO POST NAMEK SAGA POWER?

When Gokumi picked up the ring from Goku the Hedgehog it gave her a significant, permanent, power boost. She's then able to stay on par with Mecha Goku until given the Dragon Emerald. Her body reacts to the Dragon Emerald from Goku the Hedgehog's universe and she transforms into a Super Saiyan. As she continues to fight throughout the animation her power increases and she is able, with Goku Prime's advice, to obtain Super Saiyan on her own.

HOW DID MECHA GOKU REGAIN HIS HUMANITY?

As Mecha Goku fights Gokumi and sees her transform into Super Saiyan he is reminded of how he was on Namek and became a Super Saiyan fighting Frieza. As shown in the prequel animation Goku Versus Z: Origins Episode 1, Mecha Goku fell to Frieza and became his puppet after Namek. Mecha Goku reflects on his encounter with Frieza and then is suddenly attacked by Gokumi, "knocking sense into him." He is able to snap out of Frieza's control and help the others.

HOW DID MECHA GOKU REGROW HIS ARM?

Goku the Hedgehog grabs the Senzu beans and gives one to Evil Goku, Gokumi, Goku (Prime), and Mecha Goku. The bean restores all their powers/heals them and also regrows Mecha Goku's arm. Senzu Beans however can't heal scars that have been present on a person after a certain amount of time, this is why Mecha Goku still has a large scar over his eye and is blind out of that eye. This is due to his fight with Frieza on Namek.

HOW IS GOKU BLACK ABLE TO DEFEAT MUI GOKU?

By now, it should be made apparent- this is not the same Goku Black in the anime or manga. He is a hybrid between the two and is somewhat of a “cheat code.” As explained in this video, and shown in Evil Goku vs. Goku Black, he can become stronger far quicker than any other fighter due to his tail, his unusual Zenkai boost, and other factors. In addition to him obtaining the Senzu Beans, he heals himself after every near fatal or exhausting engagement. Allowing him to “close the gap” in power between himself and MUI Goku. Black wants to allow damage to himself because he knows every time he is dealt damage, he can become stronger. For instance, the Kamehamheha that MUI Goku launches at him should have been enough to kill him or at least deal a significant blow where he would be severely injured. But Goku Black placed a Senzu bean in his mouth at the last moment, eating it. This allowed Goku Black to take the full force of the Kamehameha, regain his health/power, AND grow stronger from the impact of the attack all at the same time. By which point MUI Goku was depleted in power and Goku Black moved in for the kill. At this point in the animation after MUI Goku fires the Kamehameha and Black becomes stronger- I would say Goku Black at his maximum Super Saiyan Rose 4 power is not as strong as MUI Goku, however he closed a very large gap between MUI Goku and his own power. By the end of the animation Goku Black’s Corrupted Super Saiyan 4 form, and having eaten many Senzu Beans and gained more power, IS stronger than MUI Goku from this animation.

WHAT SAGA IS THIS MUI GOKU FROM?

We don’t know. At minimum this MUI Goku could be from TOP or at maximum (as of the current manga chapter from the writing of this document) the Granola Arch. Or some other future point in time perhaps, we just don’t know. It’s technically really isn’t that important.

KAIO-KEN X100

While Evil Goku and the others fight Goku Black and distract him, Goku (Prime) powers up to use Kaio-Ken X100. It is hinted at that Goku (Prime) did this once before while fighting Evil Goku during their 100 year battle. It should be worth noting that it probably took Goku less time to gather energy to use Kaio-Ken X100 because he was dead when fighting Evil Goku. Now that he's alive a danger and a need for more time becomes apparent as one wrong mistake while using Kaio-Ken X100 could kill Goku (Prime). Fortunately, the power buildup is successful and Goku (Prime) is able to strike a single devastating blow to Goku Black, though losing all of the energy he just got back from eating the Senzu bean leaving him completely drained from that one strike.

WHY DIDN'T GOKU BLACK SEE GOKU (PRIME)'S KAIO-KEN X100 COMING?

Kaio-Ken X100 requires complete and total peace within said person. The amount of focus and clarity required is critical thus requiring a lot of time to build. It isn't so much the time needed to build up the energy, its more so the time needed to relax the mind and body into stillness. The sudden burst in power to use the attack can either kill the user instantly or completely drain you of all your energy within a few seconds if successful. While Black was distracted, Goku took the time to focus, and clear his mind. Relaxing his body with no tension, distractions, or outside influence in order to calm his mind and body.

Technically, Black could have seen that Goku (Prime) was planning an attack when he read Evil Goku's mind. However while that could possibly be a plot hole, I would argue that while Black was reading Evil Goku's mind perhaps he just didn't read that memory. Or maybe he did see it, and just decided whatever Goku (Prime) was up to, would be no threat to him. It could also be that Black was looking deeper into Evil Goku's mind and just looked passed that memory. Almost like taking a book, and skipping past the first few pages to get to the meat of the story.

GOKU BLACK'S MUTATED SUPER SAIYAN 4 (CORRUPTED SUPER SAIYAN 4)

Having been corrupted with so much power, Goku Black is unable to contain the power within himself. After suffering devastating blow from Goku (Prime) using Kaio-Ken X100, this inflicted injury along with a combination between his anger, emotional state, and power is what sparks the transformation. A conflict of Zamasu's God Ki with Goku's body causes a mutation to the Super Saiyan 4 form. This ultimately proves Evil Goku's point, that Black would eventually become so corrupted with power he would lose himself, a point to which Evil Goku had experienced himself during his early travels.

The Mutated Super Saiyan 4 transformation did not boost Black's power that significantly. Mutated Super Saiyan 4 is not a higher form of Super Saiyan 4 nor is it Super Saiyan 5. It is still a Super Saiyan 4 form, and Black did get a boost in power but not a big one. As a result, after eating the Senzu Beans, Goku (Prime) and Evil Goku also get a boost in power, and though they are still way weaker than Black, they can stand somewhat of a better chance against him. Goku Black's primal rage from the Saiyan body of Goku has lost complete control. Zamasu's mind/God Ki is in constant conflict trying to control or stabilize Goku's body, but can't. This inner conflict between mind, spirit, and body is at a constant war internally and thus Mutated Super Saiyan 4 is born. We can see certain shots of Goku Black struggling to maintain the form, or more so control his body. The form is unique only to Goku Black as it is Zamasu's mind/spirit that is present within Goku's body which is part of the key to this unique form.

Because Zamasu's God Ki and the body of Goku are in conflict and is unstable, his appearance changes completely. All of the heavenly light pink hues present in all of Black's transformations (due to his God Ki) are gone, and his dark purple and black hues (as seen in his base form) emerge. He grows longer spiky hair, and loses his pupils and eyebrows (much like Super Saiyan 3). Goku Black's body also buffs up and grows in height by about two feet, as if he's trying to prevent himself from changing into a Great Ape, though this isn't entirely the case.

The route of Zamasu becoming one with Goku's body and being more mortal is the opposite direction the Goku Black took in the anime/manga. While ultimately Goku Black fused with Zamasu to create Merged Zamasu, In Goku Versus Z Goku Black only cares about more power and being more like Goku (like a mortal). Becoming so strong he mutates and is corrupted with mortal Saiyan power, taking on a primal and unstable form opposite of the deformed Merged Zamasu. Circle complete. Parallel revealed.

THE MINUS POSITIVE KAMEHAMEHA

In an attempt to defeat Goku Black, Goku and Evil Goku both power up a Kamehameha X10 and merge the beams into the Minus Positive Kamehameha. Unfortunately Black knew this attack could potentially destroy him and he evades it without both Goku's noticing.

Without going into massive detail about the Minus Positive Kamehameha in this document, I will keep this summary somewhat brief. Goku and Evil Goku are direct polar opposite each others in terms of their energy signatures- one positive and one negative. As shown throughout the series, both Goku and Evil Goku were never meant to encounter each other and as a result of how powerful they have become when they rise their energy or power levels high enough instabilities happen to the universe around them. This is why in GVEG3 they begin to cross universes in their fight, and why the Kamehameha's cancel each other out in the end struggle in that animation.

When Evil Goku creates his realm to fight Goku on equal playing field, the realm cannot be affected by their rising energy signatures. As a result, when they merge their energy beams it creates this infinite supply of energy that can be theoretically magnified infinitely. They are tapping into Zero-point energy. Evil Goku somewhat understands this as he knows there is something unique that happens when he is present with Goku and they rise their power levels high enough.

If you want to learn more about this you can watch this video here.

Later in this document I will explain Zero-point energy.

EXPLAIN THE GOKU BLACK CLONES

In the anime, Goku Black creates a hole in reality and is able to summon/create clones of himself. I originally wanted to incorporate this idea in an earlier version of one of the scripts I had outlined. After mauling it over the idea was scrapped before I started work on GVZ again as I felt that there was just way too much happening that it would be too much. Fast-forward 2 years later, once I got to this scene where I had originally planned to put the clones, and had bounced the idea around with my Creative Consultant, it became apparent that I could make this sequence short enough and have it make sense/work with the reveal of Savage Goku. It is kind of a callback to when Cell created the Cell Jr.'s and though short, gives the other Goku's (who were once fighting each other) something to do instead of standing around and all fight a common enemy, before the reveal of Echo-G.

The Goku Black Clones, though appearing as Corrupted Super Saiyan 4, are nowhere near as strong as Goku Black at the same level. They are, somewhere below Evil Goku's Super Saiyan 4 power seen during Evil Goku vs. Goku Black. So while significantly weaker than Goku Black, Goku (Prime), and Evil Goku they still pose a huge threat to many on the battlefield. Additionally, not many Goku are left on the battlefield who surpass the Clones power. Some may still rival them, but most Goku don't stand a chance.

Goku Black's Clones appear as dark swirls of purple and black energy. They have a physical form in the sense that they are made up of Black's energy. While similar to Shadow Goku they are not made up of the same substance nor do they relate to Shadow Goku in anyway.

THE REVEAL OF SAVAGE GOKU AND SUPER SAIYAN 5

The big reveal of Savage Goku making his triumphant return to the series after having not been seen in over a decade. Savage Goku is back and he's stronger than ever, having somehow obtained the mythical and overpowered form of Super Saiyan 5. I had essentially lied (in a good way) and mislead everyone for years that he would not be coming back, as I did not want to spoil his epic return.

Savage Goku was always planned to return at the end of the animation and combat Goku Black in his corrupted form. While now also, with the newly added scene of the Goku Black Clones, saving every Goku on the battlefield.

Savage Goku effortlessly destroys, in base form, all of the Goku Black Clones effectively saving everyone. Though he may be tapping into his Super Saiyan power, we don't know for sure. He stands off with Goku Black and the two fight at full power effectively breaking down the barriers holding the realm together and fighting in a gap between realms. Savage Goku at Super Saiyan 4 is on par with Goku Black at Mutated Super Saiyan 4. Once Savage Goku realizes he cannot beat Goku Black at Super Saiyan 4, he wastes no time and transforms into Super Saiyan 5. A fitting transformation for the character.

HOW STRONG IS SAVAGE GOKU AT SUPER SAIYAN 5?

I've had lengthy discussions on this with my Creative Consultant, who I would argue is one of the best power scalers in the DB community. Super Saiyan 5, as it is a fan created form, can literally serve as any amount of power increase as one would want. It can have any multiplier applied to it as it is not canon and there are so many instances of the form appearing in different fan fictions it's hard to get a general sense of just how much stronger it is compared to Super Saiyan 4. That said, I think realistically Super Saiyan 5 Goku from AF would be as strong or maybe slightly weaker than Goku Super Saiyan God from his fight with Beerus. Keep in mind, I dislike Super and the multipliers/forms they have come out with, but I think realistically SS5 is weaker than SSG. So we actually see an AF Goku on the battlefield in a very short sequence that basically tells us the audience all we need to know. That AF Goku is a Super Saiyan 5, and Savage Goku is also a Super Saiyan 5. But Savage Goku's power far exceeds everyone's on the battlefield. This would mean Savage Goku's base is stronger than most Goku's on the battlefield at their maximum Super Saiyan forms. The reason for this we do not know. Perhaps Savage Goku is from a future point in time, is just naturally stronger, has fought more battles, has an unusual Zenkai boost, - we just don't know. That's up to the viewer to imagine in their own head canon. In any case, Savage Goku serves as the panicle of pure primal Sayian power and until Echo-G's body is formed, Savage Goku IS the strongest Goku in the Goku Versus series that we've seen.

HOW POWERFUL IS ECHO-G AND HOW WAS IT ABLE TO BE DESTROYED? (1/2)

Echo-G's power is a result of obtaining energy and life force from every Goku on the battlefield. In addition to this power, its primary source of power comes from the physical device that resided back in Universe -7. The device itself can harness the power of Zero-point energy and amplify it causing massive waves of energy that can open portals to other universes as seen throughout the series. Echo-G's energetic form on the battlefield can also do the same thing, however it no longer needs the physical device tethered to its energetic body.

Echo-G was able to vaporize Goku Black as a Mutated Super Saiyan 4 without any effort. It is able to effortlessly rip open portals to other dimensions, realms, and universes in which it can travel to or destroy. It also was able to repeal over one hundred Kamehameha's shot from many Goku on the battlefield. Lastly, as stated by Evil Goku, a Spirit Bomb could not break Echo-G's shield.

Based on these feats alone, without even seeing its full capabilities, Echo-G is capable of wiping out universe after universe with ease, and can easily travel to any universe it wants, with the ability to prevent any attack from reaching its body. This makes Echo-G a direct threat to the entire multiverse as it could theoretically destroy all universes. However, seeing as the multiverse is infinite, it would be impossible for it to actually do this as far as we know. Simply based on what we saw on screen, it must open one portal at a time and fire a Zero-point energy attack at the universe in order for it to be obliterated.

It should be worth noting Echo-G, while having the ability to consume, amplify, and harness Zero-point energy, it cannot realistically fight in hand-to-hand combat. Echo-G has no martial arts skills. Much like Zeno from Dragon Ball Super, Echo-G is not a fighter per se- it only has this one ability of controlling Zero-point energy.

HOW POWERFUL IS ECHO-G AND HOW WAS IT ABLE TO BE DESTROYED? (2/2)

As mentioned earlier Echo-G obtains or feeds off the energy from Goku's on the battlefield. This is because it was originally (after the Evil Goku first portal accident) programmed to hunt down and find Evil Goku's energy signature in the multiverse, but as a result of malfunctions it pulled in other Goku's to the Unknown Universe. In addition to its ability to harness and amplify Zero-point energy. In theory, if it is able to harness and amplify Zero-point energy it could theoretically harness that energy infinitely and amplify it infinitely resulting in infinite power.

Seeing as how Echo-G was trying to locate Evil Goku's energy signature, it had a somewhat affiliation with Evil Goku's energy, and thus only Evil Goku's energy could stop it. When Evil Goku fires his Kamehameha on Echo-G he notices that his beam, and only his beam, is weakening the energy field around Echo-G. Later on, Evil Goku realizes that only his energy can stop Echo-G. Also, that part of fixing his past mistakes means defeating Echo-G on his own. As it is in-part Evil Goku's fault the device ever existed in the first place, and that the situation everyone is in is partly his doing.

CAN ECHO-G TRANSFORM? TELL US MORE ABOUT IT.

No, Echo-G cannot transform. Echo-G is not a Saiyan. It is simply an energy manifested anomaly that takes on the appearance of Goku due to the energy it consumed from all the Goku's on the battlefield. Its height shown is 12 feet, though it can grow or shrink its height to any size. It cannot be reasoned with, or bargained with. It has no personality or emotions. For lack of a better term, "it simply is what it is." Almost like a computer program, or one that has become self-aware in a sense. It will defend itself, and won't stop till it has completed its task. Its objective was to hunt down Evil Goku's energy signature, but due to malfunctions it pulled in other Goku and so now that Echo-G (the device) created a body for itself, it continues to look for Evil Goku and wipe out universes in the process.

WHAT IS ZERO-POINT ENERGY?

I'm not a physicist or a scientist, but I can research and learn a topic like anyone else can. In short, if you want to Google Zero-point energy its actually quite fascinating. But to sum this up and how it plays into GVZ lets dive into it as these concepts have been in the series for many years over the course of the series.

If you have an empty space, it actually isn't empty at all. It's filled with particles. This means that an empty space is filled with measureable energy. These fluctuating particles pop in and out of existence and generate energy. We as a human species can not harness this power, its technologically not possible at the moment. If we as a species could harness ZPE we could have free unlimited energy that could power virtually everything.

In GVZ the portal device (Echo-G) can tap into and harness ZPE. Which means its power source is virtually all the space around it as it pulls in more and more particles, or the energy from those particles, to give itself unlimited energy. Echo-G, the physical device, can do this. Once the physical device creates a body for itself, using the stolen energy from all the Goku's, the energetic body of Echo-G can also tap into and harness ZPE.

Theoretically, this means Echo-G can be as strong as it needs to be, and can have virtually an unlimited supply of energy which can be used for defense or attack by simply collecting energy out of thin air, literally.

ECHO-G'S ATTACKS/TECHNIQUES

Echo-G has two techniques shown on screen. As mentioned earlier, we don't really know the true extent of its capabilities. That said, it is possible Echo-G is able to use other Zero-point energy techniques but we just have not seen them.

Zero-point Expansion

Echo-G has a unique destructive attack called, "Zero-point Expansion." This attack is based off Zero-point Energy, and manipulating/harnessing Zero-point Energy. As the center of the attack expands it becomes stronger as it is enveloping or harnessing more and more Zero-Point energy around it. This causes the attack to expand, theoretically infinitely, within the confines of a universe and destroy anything in its radius. As shown in the animation, Echo-G uses this attack on a universe and it begins enveloping a galaxy, followed by other galaxies. Eventually the entire universe would be wiped out and turned to nothingness. A Black hole singularity, light, energy, magic, matter, nothing can prevent this attack from expanding once it has begun. The only thing that theoretically might be able to stop it would be another Zero-point Expansion attack, or something else that can also harness and manipulate Zero-point Energy. However we don't know if that would cancel out the attack, or if it would aid in making it stronger.

Zero-point Shield

An impenetrable shield that can be harnessed by Echo-G. The shield taps into Zero-point Energy and can become as strong as Echo-G needs it to be in order to withstand any attack of any kind.

ZERO-POINT ENERGY VS. MINUS POSITIVE KAMEHAMEHA (ALTERNATIVE ENDINGS)

In one of the many earlier versions of the GVZ script, one of the endings resulted in Evil Goku and Goku both using the Minus Positive Kamehameha to stop Echo-G. This was intended to be one of many endings early on, but was soon scrapped as a much more emotional ending and death of Evil Goku needed to occur. The fact that Goku and Evil Goku together could tap into Zero-point energy means they could have stopped Echo-G without the loss of Evil Goku. However this may have only resulted into 1 of 2 scenarios:

- 1) Goku and Evil Goku succeed (highly unlikely)
- 2) Echo-G and subsequently Evil Goku and Goku keep raising their energy by tapping into ZPE and the Unknown universe is wiped out, or at least the immediate area is. Killing every Goku (more likely)

Multiple different endings were considered, scripted, and scrapped. Eventually boiling down to two endings both consisting of Evil Goku's death. The first ending resulted in Evil Goku absorbing the Spirit Bomb sacrificing himself and when he explodes is instantly wiped out with Echo-G. The second ending, similar to the first, Evil Goku survives the explosion just long enough to say good-bye to his friend and brother, Goku.

XENO GOKU AND FUSION (ALTERNATIVE PLOTS)

Goku Versus Z had roughly 4 completely different scripts or outlines over the course of about 9 years. And of those 4, they all evolved and turned out differently with different scenarios till we got eventually what would become the final Goku Versus Z plot/script.

My job, with the assistance of my Creative Consultant Numbers, was to create the best story that made sense to what I have already established in my series. Not to put too much unwanted fluff or too much nothingness for the sake of just doing it. I wanted to make a good story, not just have ridiculous events or outcomes because that's what Dragon Ball fans want. I want to do what I want, and create the best Dragon Ball story I can. If it is accepted by people who watch my work great. If not, then it is what it is. So lets get into some of these alternate plots. I will do a video explaining a lot of these but I will let you in on two of them below.

Goku and Evil Goku Fusion

This was very close to being in the final product. The sprites for Goku (Fusion) were about 50% done, lines of dialogue were recorded, and scenes were animated that had a whole build up to Goku and Evil Goku fusing to combat Goku Black in his Corrupted Super Saiyan 4 form. I wont go into details about which type of fusion and whatnot, I'll save that for a future video. In any case, it would have just been "fan service" and ultimately the fusion wouldn't have worked to defeat Black anyway. They would have ran out of time, events would have been different, and it would take away from the importance of Goku and Evil Goku working together which we have never seen. I personally don't care for fusions all that much anyway. But the fusion would have just been another thing that didn't work against Black in conjunction with everything else that didn't work. MUI, Demon Form, Kaio-Ken X100, Savage Goku, AND fusion? It was just way too much and right when it came time to animate the scene, it was scrapped. The focus should be put on Goku and Evil Goku working together. Not just join bodies and call it a day because they are stronger, but then something happens and they run out of time and defuse. This always happens in the main series and I'm not about to start doing it in mine.

Xeno Goku

In a version of the script that actually contained time travel, Xeno Goku and also Super CC Goku were going to fight Goku Black. At this point it was just too much and Xeno Goku was cut from the script. It would have taken away from Goku and Evil Goku as well as the other supporting characters like Gokumi and Mecha Goku. But some scenes were animated with Xeno Goku at the Time Nest.

MINUS POSITIVE SPIRIT BOMB ABSORPTION

When Evil Goku absorbs the Spirit Bomb he essentially starts an internal process where his life-force energy/negative energy is mixed with the energy of the Spirit Bomb. He literally becomes a walking time bomb, similar to Vegeta's self-destruction and when Goku absorbed the Spirit Bomb in movie 7, unleashing it to destroy Super Android 13. The difference here is that the Spirit Bomb also contains Goku (Prime)'s energy, and as talked about before when Evil Goku's negative energy is mixed or fused with Goku's positive energy (based on their Q.E.S.), the result is tapping into Zero-point energy. As Evil Goku approaches Echo-G, energy is slowly leaking out or escaping from his body. He is unable to contain the incredible amount of energy that is being processed and continues to rise inside of him for very long.

While the Spirit Bomb's energy is massive it is really Evil Goku's energy that is the key to stopping Echo-G, fusing or mixing his power with the Spirit Bomb only amplifies the output. Evil Goku realizes this in the end and makes a selfless decision to destroy Echo-G himself, with the aid of the Spirit Bomb. Evil Goku mixing his negative energy with Goku (Prime)'s positive energy (present in the Spirit Bomb) creates this amplified energy output as explained in this video. Both Goku (Prime) and Evil Goku share a direct polar opposite Q.E.S number. When energy signatures from two characters with direct polar opposite Q.E.S. numbers clash at a certain energy levels or frequencies, one of two things can happen. Either the energy will cancel out or it will magnify infinitely by tapping into Zero-point Energy, resulting in a theoretical infinite power source. We have seen evidence of this throughout the series. In Goku vs. Evil Goku 3: Both Goku's power grow and begin clashing. This causes the environment around them to break down as they warp to different universes. The ending scene shows both Goku's firing Kamehameha's at each other, resulting in the two beams canceling each other out, pushing through one another. Evil Goku recognizes this, and in order for him to fight Goku with no break down or universal barriers or otherworldly/cosmic interference, he creates his own realm that can't be affected by any of this, as seen in Goku vs. Evil Goku 4. In Evil Goku vs. Goku Black, Goku (Prime) and Evil Goku merge their Kamehameha's to create the Minus Positive Kamehameha, which taps into Zero Point energy magnifying the beam to push back Black.

Had Goku thrown the Spirit Bomb at Echo-G it would have been deflected or nullified by Echo-G's Zero-point Shield. However, Evil Goku absorbing the Spirit Bomb creates, almost like this, Zero-point Energy Spirit Bomb. As his energy is being mixed with Goku (Prime) and amplified, in conjunction with every other Goku's energy present in the bomb. As Evil Goku is tapping into Zero-point energy for the Spirit Bomb this again means the energy output can be theoretically infinite. Evil Goku is as powerful as he needs to be to stop Echo-G, but with a price of costing him his life. The energy from Evil Goku cancels out the shield from Echo-G and he destroys the anomaly.

EVIL GOKU'S DEATH

It became apparent early on for Evil Goku to die in this final installment of the series. A full in-depth video will be released on my YouTube channel that goes over his character arch and why it is essential he dies with zero chance of being revived or coming back. He was already dead (killed himself in Goku vs. Evil Goku 2), and thus having sacrificing himself against Echo-G he no longer exists as far as we know.

When Goku (Prime) finds Evil Goku, Evil Goku's body is in the process of turning to ash, similar to Vegeta against Majin Buu. He survived the explosion but is essentially in the process of turning to ash. Nothing can be done to stop this process. Evil Goku loses his halo as he is in this process of dying for a second time. For reasons why we do not know, speculation may be needed. But this is the first time we are seeing someone who was already dead, die for a second time. What ultimately ends up happening to Evil Goku is up for debate. If he is ceasing to exist, or if he is on a different journey altogether where his body is not needed, we just don't know. Goku and Evil Goku say their parting good-byes and both acknowledge each other as brothers.

To keep this explanation short for this document and to reserve my full analysis of his character arch for said future video as mentioned earlier, Evil Goku's character has come full circle. As a result of his actions through the course of his life and all of his evil deeds, he has walked down a small path of redemption in Goku Versus Z. Evil Goku has caused the deaths of trillions, he's destroyed hundreds of worlds, killed those who oppose him, and killed the innocent on a galactic scale. He cannot live in a world un-tortured or have any kind of peace of mind. Evil Goku can fight for peace, in this case peace for himself, for Goku, for Komay, for his universe, etc... but he cannot live in said peace. This is because of the evil deeds he has done. He does a lot of good before the end, but it's not enough to balance out the decades of his sins. The only way his redemption is even remotely possible is if he dies in the process of fighting for the cause. The price of that redemption is too high not to cost Evil Goku his existence. His past sins are so egregious, that while he can fight for the cause; he cannot be allowed to live on after the battle is over. For him to truly be redeemed in the end and for his character to truly come full circle, he must give his life for the cause of the heroes. He has to die with zero chance of ever coming back. This is ultimately why, from a story perspective, he remains dead in the series after Goku vs. Evil Goku 2. When Evil Goku kills himself the first time, it was done out of selfish reasons to become stronger. When he sacrifices himself in Goku Versus Z it is an act of self-sacrifice and selflessness to save his friend, the other Gokus, and ultimately the multiverse. Whether or not he is truly redeemed is ultimately up to the viewer.

BEING RETURNED

Every Goku sent to the Unknown Universe by Echo-G is returned back to their original universe. Because Echo-G can manipulate time and space, it returns each Goku to the moment they left their original universe. So it is as if each Goku never actually left. However, having been gone from their Universe for X amount of time, all Gokus did retain whatever power increase or form unlocks that were obtained during their time away from their universe. This also would include any injury, interaction, or experiences they had during their time in the Unknown Universe.

Echo-G pulled all these Goku from their original universe and delivered them back to the same universe. Almost like matching the Q.E.S. from every Goku with the Q.E.S. residing within every universe. Each Goku has a certain frequency or wavelength or something about their power that essentially identifies them as being, "X Goku from X universe." Like an energetic/quantum zip code that identifies who they are and where they belong in the multiverse.

If a Goku died in the Unknown Universe, we have no way of knowing what happened to that Goku. In my mind I like to think that they cease to exist, as we don't know how the Unknown Universe operates in terms of what happens to an individual after death. And I don't think that question needs to be answered. I think with the way Echo-G works, and the way the Unknown Universe works, it would be impossible for any Goku who died to be "brought back" or "sent back" to their proper universe.

So in this case, any Goku who dies in the Unknown Universe is dead and gone for good. I don't think a dead body would be returned either, as the body no longer has any sort of energy signature attached to it as all energy/soul on a spiritual and quantum level is gone. Seeing as how Echo-G targets Gokus based on their Q.E.S./energy signature, it would make sense that dead Goku bodies would remain in the Unknown Universe, and the soul/spirit would cease to exist.

Goku (Prime) however is an exception. Because he was in Evil Goku's Realm for 100 years, his Q.E.S. does not match that realm. So Goku (Prime) is returned back to Universe 7 at the present time. Meaning he is now 100 years past the events of GT.

EVERYONE GETS WHAT THEY WANTED

If you pay close attention to this animation, there are lines of dialogue that are said between most characters that eventually come to pass or were reversed on purpose to the desired outcome as a play on parallels. This was planned in such a way so that every primary character gets complete fulfillment to their story. In addition, fans of the series get what they wanted as old characters from the series return, and certain match ups and ideas are put into my fan series.

Goku Black- Becomes so strong he achieves a new form but loses himself in the process, proving Evil Goku's point. Black also wishes to fight both Goku (Prime) and Evil Goku at the same time early on, then by the end of the animation he gets to fight them both Goku (Prime)- Mentions to Goku Black that "We all can't get what we want." When the exact opposite comes to pass and everyone gets what they want in the animation. Goku (Prime) also is returned back to his universe after 100 years spent with Evil Goku putting him in the events of post GT to meet Goku Jr.

Gokumi- Achieves Super Saiyan with outside help and then unlocks it on her own. She also teams up with Evil Gokumi who strictly told her she would never join forces with her. Gokumi also returns home and protects her planet by easily defeating Vegeena.

Mecha Goku- Regains his humanity and his arm. He also saves Piccolo from Frieza, and they escape Frieza's planet.

Goku the Hedgehog- Gets waffles and saves King Kai (King Robo Kai).

Savage Goku- Makes his triumphant return and can go Super Saiyan 5.

Gokuu and NegaGoku- Return briefly as cameos.

Vegeta- Returns. Hints that Echo-G is forming a consciousness, this comes to pass.

Piccolo- Returns. Has always wanted to get Evil Goku to see the truth, this comes to pass.

Echo-G- Present in mostly every animation in the series, but gets revealed as final antagonist in the climax of the series.

Evil Goku- Gets peace. He sacrifices himself for the greater good to try and redeem himself for his past sins. He also experiences, for a brief moment, what it's like to have his own child and ultimately try to move on from his past life events.

And there is many more, look for them. Too many to list out in this document.

FINAL COMMENTS

Thanks to everyone who has been with me on this Snake Way journey and also those who helped contribute to the entire series as a whole. It's awesome to know you guys enjoy my videos. Thank you for your support and love over the years. It is humbling to read all the positive outcomes from those who were inspired or entertained by my work with Evil Goku and the Goku Versus series.

Using 2D sprites to tell this story was, at the time it began, the only way I knew how to visually communicate this narrative. My style evolved a lot over the years. Which is why I believe my 2D sprite animation style is unique among the thousands and thousands of 2D sprite animators that there are. I now animate as if you are watching a full fledged episode of Dragon Ball Z not focusing strictly on combos, fighting, and the special effects. But to develop something truly unique with strong story elements, good character growth, and other equally as important ideas/elements injected into an anime-style 2D sprite movie.

I didn't want to retcon certain elements (or mistakes) from my own series, so I had to stay true with everything that came before and somehow wrap it up in a way that made sense. I used a lot of my own life-experiences, head canon, mature themes, and western world elements by fusing that into my favorite childhood show, Dragon Ball Z. Creating characters and stories that would be interesting and fun for me to animate, and hopefully; something all of you would enjoy. I very much am from the late 90's early 2000's era of Dragon Ball, and it's when I was introduced to it. So naturally a lot of the elements (big and small/incorrect and correct) from that era are present in this animation on purpose, like "KAY-OH-KEN."

Goku Versus Z was by far was the most challenging animation I've done in my life. It took almost 2.5 years to complete. I devoted so much of my time, effort, money, blood, sweat, and tears into completing this series with this final installment. To make it something I can be proud of and something special for everyone. During it's production major life events happened. Some of these events were sad and some were happy. I say this proudly: it is a testament to my strength of character for persevering through the stress of completing a project of this magnitude almost virtually all on my own. I did hire some help with voices, some sprites, music, artwork, and other misc. things that needed to be done. But I was the one who had to animate and bring this whole event together, and you guys were with me cheering me on every step of the way. So now, I deserve a nice long break by a beach, and I intend to collect on that. You can picture me sitting on a beach at sunset. A beer in one hand and a good cigar in the other, relaxing for a nice long while ☺

ARE YOU PLANNING MORE ANIMATIONS?

No. As far as the Goku Versus series is concerned, it is done and complete. I have worked on it for almost two decades and it has been a significant part of my life for many years. All good things must come to an end. I would rather stop here at the top of my game with the grand finale, then continue dragging this series out and have it potentially crumble and evolve into something terrible, which seems to happen a lot with many modern day shows/series. It is the right time for this series to end, and end on a big note. At the time of it's inception the term or phrase "Multiverse" was not mainstream. Now, the word "multiverse" is literally everywhere. Every medium, every series, every story now has some sort of multiverse element in it. This isn't necessarily a bad thing, but it is a reflection of how for many years I have done this concept and it is time to move on to other things.

I do plan on going back and telling the origin story of Evil Goku as a new series and all of his early adventures using a different digital medium, not animations. I would also love to tell a continuing story using Evil Goku's daughter, Komay. I think there is a lot to explore yet in Evil Goku's universe both in his past events and with future events using, Komay. So I'm looking forward to using a quicker method to tell those stories, without (sadly) the animation quality I'm used to producing. This would likely lead to faster production times and a more consistent posting of videos on my YouTube channel, instead of going months or years between posts. It also gives me the opportunity to turn this hobby into a potential solid source of income.

As far as animating goes, I'm permanently burnt out. After an event like this who wouldn't be. It's been one hell of a ride, and I wouldn't change a thing. My Snake Way journey has come to an end. I'm looking forward to continuing the stories you guys enjoyed as soon as I take some much needed R&R. Ensure you stick around to find out what happens in future Dragon Ball stories on my channel. Thank you for taking this journey with me and for your continued support over the years. It means more than you know ☺

Much love to all of you, I wish you the best!
